languages stress communication

Mythology plays a major part in Senior English.

From verb conjugations to Chaucer, the English department strives to teach students how to write, speak, and understand our language. Even with audiovisual aids, this subject is a challenging one with great opportunities for future use.

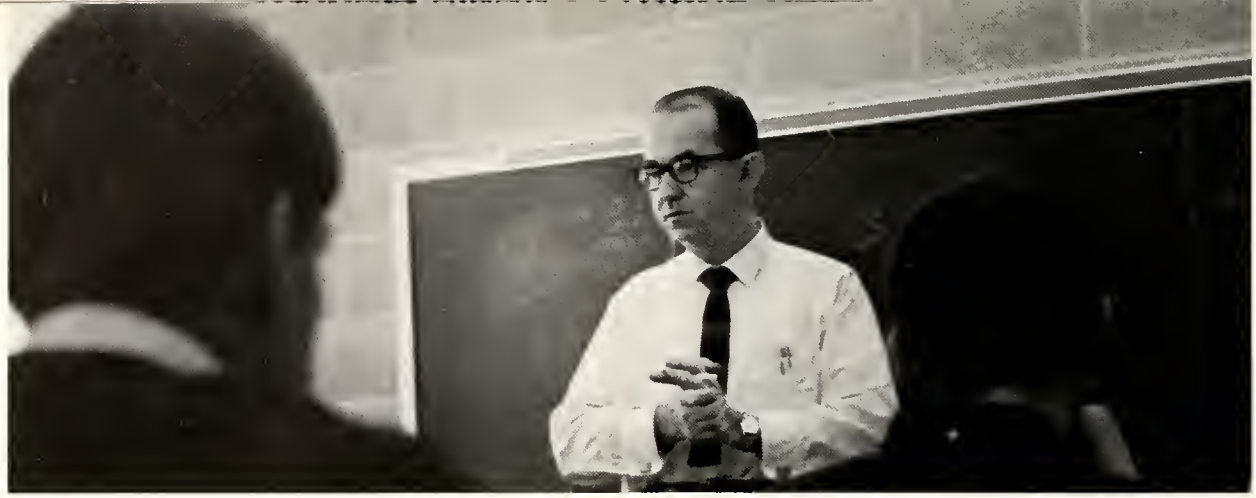
Junior English students use study time to prepare their lesson.

Mrs. Rouch helps her Spanish students to understand a new dialogue.

The language department forms an integral part of the college prep. program. This department has the unique responsibility of teaching students to learn to communicate in another language. In the past few years a third and a possible fourth year of our languages have been made available for those students who wish to take them.

Second year French students find magazines written in French interesting.

Students study Roman life as a part of Latin class.



Mr. Settle, Mr. Freemyer, and Mr. Smith are all mathematics or science teachers at Portland High School. Although students often complain that it's too hard and takes too much time they are rewarded by gaining the knowledge which come from the work it takes to make the grade. The labs are both interesting and informative as students are given the chance to apply the laws and theorems which they learn in the classroom.

Patience is often displayed by Mr. Smith in his geometry class.

math-science aids

Through a jungle of glass Debbie Kanthak experiments in Chemistry.

Mr. Freemyer explains a difficult problem to his senior math students.

Balancing the facts, Mr. Michael took a turn at educating the Physics class.

p.h.s. students

vocational arts offer

Nancy Limbert learns how to use a pattern correctly.

Girls develop skills in Home Economics which greatly benefit them in later life. The knowledge gained in cooking and sewing helps them become better wives and mothers.

Meanwhile mechanical drawing and shop, very popular with the boys, benefit those seeking a career in drafting. While Mr. Beck's boys stick to their drawing boards and pencils, Mr. Berry and Mr. Stump guide their students in using the equipment and skills needed to complete their projects.

Mrs. Saxman teaches her students some proper cooking techniques.

practical learning

Art students express themselves through their work.

Mr. Beck explains perspective to the class.

diversified cooperative education

The Diversified Cooperative Education program, better known as D.C.E., was created for the purpose of acquainting interested students in the many and varied vocational jobs in the surrounding area. Students in this program attend classes one-half of the day; the rest of the day is spent working at a chosen job. In this program, experience is the best teacher, and, better yet, the students are paid for the work they do.

Trimming meat is a part of Tim Holderman's job at Ludwigs.

Kay Williams learns nursing first hand at the hospital.

David Henderson works for The Commercial-Review.

Members of D.C.E. from Portland are Bob Bailey, Joe's IGA; Norma Bailey, Modern Bindery; Connie Beebe, Jay Co. Hospital; Jim Beeler, Marsh Foods; Jackie Bubp, Hanlin's Drugs; Paul Cavanaugh, Portland Forge; David Henderson, Graphic Printing Co.; Tim Holdeman, Ludwig's; Becky Hudson, Coca-Cola Bottling; Tom Jarrell, Price Implement; Terry Koons, Fraze Motors; Terry McClish, Marsh Foods; Homer McCoy, Jay Garment; Steve Miller, Modern Woodworking; Dave Pfeifer, Sheffer-Weinland; Becky Reed, Jay Co. Hospital; Tom Shawver, Maitlen-Theurer; Randy Smith, Justin Schafer, Inc.; Kay Williams, Jay Co. Hospital.

Becky Reed, President; Jim Beeler, Vice-President; Norma Bailey, Secretary; and Kay Williams, Treasurer; are the officers from Portland.

Tom Jarrell is employed by Price Implement.

social studies plays its part

Students pay close attention to an informative civics bulletin board.

U.S. history, civics, and either sociology or economics are required to be taken before students may graduate. In these classes, trends, society, and politics are discussed and explained. These courses help the students understand the present as well as the past.

United States History students study the how and why of our country.

business department

PHS students wishing to prepare for a career in the field of business find that there are many commercial courses that will help them. Most students discover that typing and bookkeeping are two subjects that are useful no matter what career they pursue. Girls, especially, find that shorthand is very good to know. Business arithmetic, business law, and business English are also offered to interested commercial students.

Calvin Locker concentrates on a difficult case in Business Law.

A typical typing class works at gaining speed and accuracy.

counselors help students plan careers

With the help of Mrs. Berniece Van Matre and Mr. Gene Clemens, Portland students prepare for vocational and college needs. Test scores and personal counseling guide students in their future plans.

Mrs. Sparkle Crowe, a teacher and guidance counselor at Portland for 21 years, resigned this spring to accept a position in the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction where she will work in the area of Pupil-Personnel Services. All at Portland sincerely regret her leaving but we are happy that she will now serve the entire state as she has so long served Portland.

kings and queens

Cheer Committee chose "Catchy Commercials" as the theme for the 1966 Homecoming Parade. Psi Iota Xi and Pep Club won first prizes in their respective divisions. Candidates for queen and king were Janet Holster, Susie Badders, Patty Miller, Gary Miller, LeRoi Rigby, and Mike Bush. The court consisted of juniors Melanie Jack and Tom Swanger, and sophomores Rosemary Grissom and Tom Banta. Despite the clear but cold night, the Panthers met a 13-6 defeat from the Hagerstown Tigers. Following the game a dance was held at the Armory featuring "The Knots" from Dayton.

Queen Janet Holster and King Mike Bush reigned over the 1966 Homecoming.

launch and conclude our year

King Mark Hearn and Queen Barbie Howard reigned over the South Sea Paradise.

The Juniors sponsored the annual Junior-Senior Reception in fine style this year with "South Seas Paradise" as their theme. Candidates for Queen and King were Barbie Howard, Ellen Brackman, Linda McDaniel, and Mark Hearn, John Varnau, and Jim Klopfenstein. The Junior-sponsored dance featured "The Chosen Few". The Whing-Ding began with a folk singing troupe at the school. The evening was rounded out by breakfast and the music of "The Next of Kin" at the Country Club.

Juniors take off from school to work on Prom.

Mrs. Countryman did her fair share of answering questions.

typhoon staff learns

Identifying pictures required patience and time.

"What do you mean you can't find my page?" seemed to be a typical inquiry.

Editorial and Business Staffs hard at work.

by trial and error

A fourth-period Typhoon class was a first for P.H.S. Although we had our share of good times, as a deadline drew near, the staff found out just how much work was required. With our first-year sponsor, Mrs. Countryman, and an inexperienced staff, there were days when we wondered who would quit first.

All in all, an evaluation of our Typhoon period would surely reveal that besides being fun and work, it was really worthwhile.

Dreams of a completed yearbook were frequent for editor and sponsor.

Robed Choir members practice daily during activity period, entertain their classmates during school programs, and help to produce the biennial operetta. While participating in these activities, they also learn much about choral music from their director, R. Dale Harrod.

Robed Choir is more than just an activity; it is an education in music, as well as training in the poise of an entertainer, and the cooperation necessary to produce a program with one's fellow students.

and performance

The choice of Band as an elective offers the student a chance to improve himself instrumentally in addition to increasing his appreciation of music. Through hours of assiduous practice under the supervision of H. Paul Brown, students play a wide variety of musical compositions ranging from concert symphonies to band arrangements of modern popular songs.

In addition to entire band participation, energetic members may take part in individual group competition for honors in district contests, thereby gaining valuable experience in the performing arts.

With the help of H. Paul Brown's musical knowledge these aspiring young musicians learn much about their respective instruments.

What's been going on in 509? Oatmeal every morning for breakfast, no newspaper, 1927 champagne, and the one and only homemade zebra trap are just a few of the peculiaralities that are characteristics of the "Girls in 509". Even as thoughts turn toward next year's play, the cast will always remember those long rehearsals, the cast party, and those wild truck rides.

"To the Republican Party" proposes Aunt Hettie as she gives a toast with 1929 champaigne.

At the door of "509" await the reporters, anxious to catch a glimpse of the secluded duo.

Hedy displays her talents with a "Heart of Gold."

Portland High's Music Department presented a satire on the business world, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Nancy Lovejoy, in the part of Rosemary, was "willing to keep his dinner warm" if only she were asked by Dick Harrod, as Finch. Besides Rosemary to complicate his career intentions, Finch had to contend with Phil Cheeseman, as Frump; Mark Fitzpatrick, the boss, Mr. Bigley, who knitted; and the attractive secretary, Sharon Collins, as Hedy. Backed by the rest of the cast, the musical was enjoyed both nights by near-capacity audiences.

f.f.a. took trips and competed in contests

F.F.A. officers took a trip to the Dunes State Park and acquainted themselves with their duties and responsibilities. The Advanced Ag. boys also took a trip and went to Chicago to visit the National Livestock Exposition. The annual football concession stand, as well as a seed sale, scrap drive, and slave sale were used as money-making projects. Every member exhibited at least one grain or legume specimen in the crop show. John Flesher received a Hoosier Farmer Degree at the State convention. He also took second place in Farm and Home Electrification and participated in the Mechanical Demonstration contest. In District competition Jim Shawver entered the Creed contest and Bob Bell entered the Impromptu Speech.

Nervous tension before a speech meet is a familar experience for most Speech Club members. Nevertheless the waiting is worthwhile if the participant earns enough points to become a member of the National Forensics League. This privilege is a new one as the club just became associated with the League last fall. N.F.L. members are--Sandy Cook, Melanie Jack, Janell Theurer, Ann Marshall, Fred Karrasch, Hugh Hanlin, Dick Harrod, Betty Settle, Peggy Barger, and Sharon Collins.

y-teens strive to "build a

Y-Teens demonstrated various phases of their organization.

Y-Teens offers a wonderful opportunity to acquaint girls with themselves and others. During the year, Y-Teens promoted a clothing drive and covered the town on a Christmas caroling party. To show parents they hadn't been entirely forgotten, the girls invited their Ma's and Pa's to a meeting especially planned for their enjoyment. They were entertained by two girl folksingers and slides shown by Loreto Ulloa. One night, inspired by the story about Horton the elephant, Y-Teens gathered their imagination and talent for a turn at fingerpainting. As a final treat, Y-Teen girls were given a chance to ask the boy of their choice for a date to the Spring Formal. "Jade East" was the theme, with the Jades to furnish the music.

Gus and Loreto came to join the fun at Spring Formal.

roman banquet highlights latin year

Junior Classical League brings to the present the glory of Rome as the members don togas for the fall initiation and the May Roman Banquet. "The Return of Ulysses" was the general theme for the banquet this year which was highlighted by a skit, special music, and dancing. At meetings during the year the club had a game night, went Christmas caroling, and had a joint meeting with the Spanish and French clubs.

Impatient Romans kept slaves running with their demands for food and wine.

A joint dance with the French Club was another popular event as was the trip to a Mexican restaurant.

loreto works hard, but keeps smiling

This year we especially enjoyed Maria Loreto Ulloa, our A.F.S. student from Concepción, Chile. Her American family, the Harry Theurers, took her on trips to Virginia and Florida, and planned a birthday party and open house in her honor. Shy at first, Loreto soon adjusted to her new environment. She described Americans as being practical and fast-moving. During the year Loreto gave various talks and showed slides of Chile.

student council— the students speak

Student Council provides the opportunity for students to express their views about school affairs. Each year the Council, which is composed of representatives and alternates elected by homerooms, plans assembly programs and sponsors a noon mile sale. In addition it takes charge of coat checks at the Sectional and Holiday Tourney and nominate members for Cheer Committee.

As a project for the year, Student Council purchased a dimmer for the junior high auditorium.

seniors double-cast drama

As a switch from previous class plays, the seniors presented a drama, "The Glass Menagerie" with a double cast. The story of a family in St. Louis, their involvement with a glass menagerie, a gentleman caller, and a wandering father made for many tense moments. The cast brought Tennessee Williams' characters to life in one of the most dramatic plays ever presented at P.H.S.

gaa—girls get chance to participate

The Girls' Athletic Association of Portland High School had a very good year. Interscholastic sports started off with a bang as the volleyball team took first place in the fifth district tournament. Basketball played an important role in GAA as the 6-0 record proved. Track, bowling, and gymnastics added girls' enjoyment as they participated in the state tournament.

In intramural sports the girls went swimming at Muncie's YWCA, played volleyball, basketball, tennis, badminton, and went bowling.

This year GAA sold PHS sweaters and sweatshirts as a money-making project.

The 1966-67 varsity basketball team had a winning season with a 12-10 record. The season was highlighted by defeating Mississinewa in a double overtime to capture the MVC bucket, which in turn led to the MVC co-championship. Todd Bynum and Mike Bush received the honor of being named to the first team all conference and Jeb Bubp was given honorable mention. In addition, Coach Schutz was selected coach of the year for his 3-1 record in MVC play. At the annual banquet Mike Bush, Most Valuable Player, and Mark Hearn were elected co-captains. Awards were also given to Todd Bynum, best field goal percentage and rebound; Jeb Bubp, most assists; Bush, best free throw percentage and Hearn, best defensive player.

inconsistent pups do well

A relatively young team, the Panther Pups consisted of nine sophomores and two juniors. They achieved a 9 win-11 loss record and as a whole hit a good .325 percent from the field. Earl Reitenour led the team in rebounding with Greg Bailey and Jeff Haver leading in assists. Leading in free throw and scoring averages was Butch Gray.

girls back teams

Our school is fortunate to have a good pep club whose members support our team whether they are winning or losing. Because of the size of Pep Club the governing body consists of two members from each class, the club officers, sponsors, and cheerleaders. These girls make rules and run the club business themselves. Governing body members: Debbie Lingo, Nancy Lovejoy, Nancy Koegel, Cindy McDaniel, Diana Ford, Carol Green, Barbie Howard, Nancy Sanderlin, Mary McCory, Becky Neal, Judy Loy, Nancy Schutz, Bev Brown, Linda McDaniel, Mrs. Gibble, and Mrs. Pryer.

Harold S. Brubaker, Principal
Portland Senior High School

Mr. Brubaker has won the respect of his present students and past graduates as his skill in handling the various problems keeps each day running smoothly. Always willing to listen, his calm judgment has undoubtedly been a great influence on all our lives.

Mrs. Robbins gladly helps to give us the information so frequently sought. As school bookkeeper, she also handles all the books we keep for our many school organizations.

sophomores find first year challenging

The Sophomores began the year by joining various school clubs. They chose a Student Council representative, Nancy Stultz, and a prince and princess for Homecoming, Tom Banta and Rosemary Grissom. They also were faced with greater academic responsibilities. Some members of the class participated in varsity athletics, took part in the Robed Choir's operetta, and served at the Junior-Senior Prom. A committee was chosen in the spring to select the class ring for the "Class of '69."

A Challenge For PHS S

The challenge of making their own personal contribution in this confusing world was given to 153 Portland High School graduates when they received their diplomas at commencement exercises Tuesday evening in the school gymnasium.

Mark Hearn, senior class president, challenged his classmates to make the most of their lives and guest speaker, Dr. Wesley N. Haines, president of Franklin College, told them to "keep studying, mind your own business, keep your lives clean and get lost in doing something worthwhile in order to contribute something to a better world."

Superintendent of Jay School Corporation Mardy L. Logan introduced the guest speaker and the presentation of diplomas was made by Principal H. S. Brubaker. Kail D. Ruffner, pastor of West Walnut Street Church of Christ, opened and closed the program.

The Portland High School Band, under the direction of H. Paul Brown, provided music for the procession of graduates. Glen Bryant and Harold Smith served as sponsors for the 1967 class.

PRICE TEN CENTS

During the closing days of the school year, life at PHS still reflects a combination of studies and school spirit as the seniors receive their scholastic honors, enjoy the generosity of the underclassmen, and indulge in senior pranks.

AMERICAN YEARBOOK COMPANY

To a girl who I could blackmail about 200 times a day.
Did you eat the sugar paper?
I hope will be best of friends
forever. Love
Jeri

Mark Keller
Class of '65"
